

AMI Member Rules of Engagement

For more than 75 years, the Association of Medical Illustrators (AMI) has been bringing together biomedical visual communicators through career growth opportunities, professional development, and credibility by providing a diverse community of like-minded creative experts, educational engagement resources and opportunities, support for certification, and space for exchange of information and ideas.

AMI members are dedicated, passionate professionals who volunteer time and energy toward their personal growth and advancement of the industry through association membership. By joining the AMI, individuals make a commitment to maintain the values of the AMI through each and every interaction with fellow members and industry professionals.

Collectively, AMI members contribute to a strong membership community by agreeing to:

- Respect oneself and others
- Display professionalism through all actions and communications
- Demonstrate fairness by acting impartially and objectively
- Act honestly, through communications and in one's conduct
- Soften judgement by assuming positive intent
- Think and inquire before reacting
- Read, understand and abide by the AMI Member Code of Ethics, Hub Code of Conduct and Committee Group Norms

Together, we make the AMI stronger!
